CSIR INTEGRATED SKILL INITIATIVE

ANNUAL SKILL TRAINING CALENDAR

(2026-2027)

CSIR-Human Resource Development Centre, Ghaziabad
(Skill Nodal Office)

PREFACE

The CSIR Integrated Skill Initiative Programme under the aegis of the Council of Scientific and Industrial Research (CSIR) is a transformative step towards bridging the gap between academic education and practical skill development. In a world where industries and technologies are evolving at an unprecedented pace, it is essential that learners are equipped not only with theoretical knowledge but also with technical, vocational, and interpersonal skills required to adapt and excel in various domains. All these training programs are interconnected and linked to industry requirement thus would invariably contribute to subsequent employment generation, including small scale entrepreneurship committed to nurturing a culture of continuous learning, innovation, and professional excellence.

The importance of this initiative lies in its focus on holistic development. It empowers learners to think critically, solve problems creatively, and collaborate effectively. By combining conceptual learning with hands-on experience, the programme enhances employability, encourages entrepreneurship, and prepares youth for diverse career pathways. Moreover, it supports the national goal of creating a skilled and self-reliant workforce that can contribute meaningfully to economic and social progress.

In the capacity of being the nodal body, CSIR-Human Resource Development Centre (HRDC), Ghaziabad ensures that the implementation remains systematic, effective, and outcome-oriented. Furthermore, CSIR-HRDC invites collaborations with various Sector Skill Councils (SSCs) to strengthen its technical contribution to the National Occupational Standards (NOS), thereby expanding the scope and impact of the programme in the coming years. The Annual Training Calendar for the year 2026-27 has been prepared by incorporating the inputs received from all CSIR labs participating in the programme.
